

Academic Highlights

As the class of 2025 walked through their last Warrior Gauntlet following their graduation ceremony, they were greeted with high-fives, hugs, and cheers. The emotional reception of the new graduates was a testament to their significant achievements and the deep bonds formed over their years at Trinity.

While their season here has come to an end, the relationships will follow them as they begin post-graduate studies at schools as far away as Stanford, Louisiana State, and Florida State or as close as West Virginia University, right here in Morgantown. The Class of 2025 includes a National Merit Finalist and an All-Academic Honoree, among other distinctions. Notably, the 26 students comprising the class served 4,161 hours (combined) and earned over $1,000,000 in accepted scholarships. They are an extraordinary group, and we can't wait to see what God does in and through them.

Spring was full of exciting learning opportunities. Elementary classes honed their research and presentation skills with year-end exhibitions ranging from "Hobbies and Collections" to a "Countries Fair." Class field trips included Harper's Ferry in West Virginia, and Meadowcroft Rockshelter, Laurel Caverns, and Carnegie Science Center in Pennsylvania. Despite extremely inclement weather, eighth-graders enjoyed visits to historic and geographic sites throughout West Virginia. High schoolers went on an overnight visit to the Ark Encounter and Creation Museum in Kentucky as part of a new initiative to offer a trip to a different location every year of high school.

Aiming to instill a culture of Christ-like service, student mentors and their buddies filled 100 backpacks with toiletries, supplies, and fun items for children in West Virginia foster shelters as a school-wide spring service project.

Arts Highlights

Trinity Arts continued to flourish this spring with the Night of the Arts and the production of Disney's musical The Little Mermaid, Jr. The band has experienced growth in numbers, and Director Josh Salisbury has scheduled summer band camp to continue the momentum.

The Night of the Arts has become a perennial favorite with TCS families and friends. As expected, this year was a delightful celebration of the arts. Guests enjoyed beautiful artwork created by students of all ages displayed throughout the building. The elementary and middle school choirs presented a variety of musical numbers in the gym, including a few songs on ukuleles. To end the evening, music filled the chapel when the combined middle and high school band performed an impressive mini-concert.

The Drama Department's performance of The Little Mermaid, Jr. marked the return of musical theatre to the school. Not only did the actors do an incredible job, but the stage crew was top-notch. It's been gratifying to watch our secondary students with an affinity for theatre have new opportunities to use and develop their talents.
